THE RUSSIAN REVELATIONS.

MR. CHURCHILL'S DENIALS.

London, Inly 5. In the House of Commons, replying to Col. L'Estrange Malone and Mr. Wedgwood Benn with regard to the report of a conversation between Mr. Churchill and the Russian anti-Bolshevist General Golouin in May of last year, in which Mr. Churchill is alleged to have promised to help be anti-Bolshevist campaign in every way, Mr. Bonar Law said Mr. Churchill had informed him that the report was very inaccurate. For example, the statements that Mr. Churchill said he was carrying out Koltchak's orders, and that British reinforcements were sent to Archangel not to assist the withdrawal but to help Koltchak, were obviously absurd and quite untrue. On the other hand, the Government's policy last year, of helping the anti-Bolshevists, was well-known and had been quite clearly stated.

Replying to a suggestion for a debate on the subject, Mr. Boner Law said said it would be difficult to find times, but Mr. Churchill would be very pleased to deal with the matter.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

San Francisco, July 3. . At the conclusion of the reading of the platform Mr. Bryan presented free amendments including a bone dry plank. Ex-Congressman Cochrane presented a wet plank in favour of c'der, light wines and beers and was greeted with prolonged cheering. Mr. Doheny (California) presented a modified Irish plank containing no specific recognition of the Irish republic.

In the first ballot Mc-Adoo had 266 votes, Palmer 254 and Cox 134. In the second Mc-Adoo had 239, Palmer 264 and Cox 159, the others being scattered. The third ballot resulted Mc-Adoo 32312, Palmer 25212, Cox 177.

San Francisco, July 3. President Wilson telegraphed the Convention: "While our enemies are endeavouring to isolate us among the nations of the world, we are following the vision of the founders of the Republic. who promised the world counsel and leadership of the free people of the United States in all matters affecting human liberty. That promise was deliberately renewed when we entered the great war for human freedom. We must now keep faith with those who died in Flanders to redeem it. The course the party has taken fills me with confidence in victory."

San Francisco, July 4.

In the course of the prohibition debate on the floor of the Convention. Mr. Colby, after stating his belief that each delegate would vote on the liquor question according to his convictions, declared that was not directed to have the work. Mr. Bryan was emulating the Republicans, who were in favour of the Treaty but who all had reservations in their pockets. He reminded early in the season than as now pile him of the group of people described as meaning well feebly. Mr. Colby diagnosed the trouble with the Senate as intellectual lockiaw.

> Mr. Carter Glass bitterly criticised the efforts of those who would deprive President Wilson of credit for the establishment of the League of Nations. . The liquor question was omitted from the platform because the committee did not desire to becloud the issue. Referring to the Treaty question Mr. Glass said he was unable to agree with Mr. Bryan with regard to the latter's declaration. He was willing to remit ten billion dollars of indebtedness due to the United States abroad if that would bring universal peace. The price of peace to the United States was the blood of American soldiers. Mr. Glass said he was unwilling to remit that price in dollars.

> The proposed bone dry plank was rejected by 929 to 155. Mr. Bonrke-Cockran's wet plank was likewise rejected by 726 to 356. A substitute Irish plank was rejected by 6751/2 against 4021/2. All other attempts to amend the platform failed, including one proposed by Mr. Bryan to secure adoption of a plank in favour of giving the Senate authority to ratify treaties by a simple majority instead of a two thirds majority as now required.

GREATEST REPORT MARKET.

THE NEW COMPETITION IN INDIA.

The war has brought about many obanges in the character and direction of our export trade. whatever that American competi but the statement may be made (writes Mr. Thomas M.Ainscough, O.B.E., H. M. Senior Trade Commissioner in India, in the Bound of Trade Journal) with as great truth to-day as in 1914 that of all the markets of the world India. presents the greatest outlet for the products of British labour and enterprise. It is not generally realished that India was before the war, and stillis, the most important market" for United Kingdom manufactured goods. In the last pre-war calendar year, 1913, the United Kingdom shipped to India eboog lo draw 000,000,000 revo of United Kingdom produce and manufacture, of which no less than £67,000,000-i.e., 96 percent. frerutseluaem 🤚 betaseerqor articles. In the year, 1917 the figures were £60,000,000 £57,000,000 respectively. measure of the value of .. th Indian market to the British manufacturer can be expressed in the percentage of the shipments to that market ascompared with the total shipments to all parts of the world. In 1913 loper cent., and in 1917 13 per centil of the exported manufactures of the United Kingdom were shipped, to India No apology, therefore, is needed in reviewing our position in the great Dependency, as it will be obvious that the prosperity of India and the maintenance of the purchasing power of Indian people is of most vital importance to British industry.

TRADE DURISG THE WAR. Despite all the handicaps under which our trade suffered during the war, many of which are still operative, the United Kingdom has maintained her position in the Indian market in a marvellous manner. In the year ending 31st March 1919, her share of the import trade was still 40 per cent, as compared with a pre war average of 63 per cent her share of the total trade was 35 per cent. as compared with 40 per cent. while the British Empire, taken as whole, actually increased its share of India's overseas trade by one per cent. The recovery since March 1919 has been most striking, and although the completed figures are not yet available, there is evidence that much of the ground which was lost during the war is being regained.

INDIA NOW A COMPETITIVE MARKET.

While it is true that our trade with India is showing remarkable recuperative powers, there are many new factors which require to be carefully studied, and manchanges have taken place in the past few years as a direct result of the war which tend to weaken our position in the market, and which call for special efforts and revised methods and organisa- £4,998,000 1918-19 £22,349,000. tion in order to meet them. ## CASE.

-DEFENDANT MAKES A LONG STATEMENT. Below we give the evidence in the trial, at the Police Court yesterday, of Mr. W. J. Williams on a charge of manulaughter, as a result of the shooting of a Chinese detective. Dr. Y. K. To, Assistant Superin tendent of the Government Civil Hospital, deposed that at 1.35 a.m. on the 1th deceased was brought to the hospital by Sergeant Kelly Deceased had a bullet wound on the right. The entry of the bullet was wood the inner side in front, abou three inches above the knee cap. The exit was a much larger wound at about the same level and was on the left at the back. Some muscle was protruding from the exit wound and the long bone of the thigh was Iractured. Deceased was suffering from extreme loss of blood and proa few hours later. At 10 a.m. he operated on deceased with the lat. house on receipt of the ter's consent. He found the main report that an attempted burglary artery, the veins and nerves of the had taken place in the house. thigh had been completely torn. Under such circumstances there glass in the front door had was practically no hope of saving been smashed. Defendant spoke to daceased's leg. After consulting and they discussed protective with Dr. Moore, Superintendent of the hospital, witness amoutated deceased's leg. Deceased underwent the operation fairly well, but lowing to extreme loss of blood and shock he died as 1.20 p.m.

Mr Nash : From Your observations' from what distance do you think deceased was fired at? " Dr. To: From a few yards, per-

THE SPA CONFERENCE.

The Spa Conference, which is just being opened, is certainly the most important that has been held since the Conference of Versailles, because there will be decided momentous questions arising out of the peace settlement. It was a happy decision on the part of the Allies to have a preliminary conference at Brussels for the purpose of coming to a complete agreement before the Allies representatives met the German de'egries, and news has been telegraphically received that the much-desired unity has been achieved. There was a little raft' in the serenity of the gathering. owing to Italy demanding that Belgium should abandon part of the percentage of the indemnity already allocated to her, but that matter seems to have been satisfactory settled. We have already given our views on what the attitude of the Allies should be towards Germany and in view of the decisions come to at the Brussels Conference it is necessary to examine the position in its later light. The Allies have come to the conclusion that they must secure the disarmament of Germany at any price. and French and British military heads have been instructed to consider practical means of imposing upon Germany the execution of the disarmament clauses of the Treaty. We are in symathy with that, because without the disarmament of our late enemy the Peake Treaty is nullified in one of its most essential parts. Germany only needs a force sufficient for internal policing and there should be no undue laxity shown even in that direction. The Allies are also insisting on the delivery of all the war material enumerated in the Treaty and the abolition of conscription. We have no fault to find with that and we think that Germany will be acting mistakenly if she profests or prograstinates. She has signed her bond and must keep to it. It is her own interests and in the interests of Europe that she should. The point in which we are mostly interested is that dealing with the indemnity. As to its distribution among the Allies and the question of preference being granted to one Ally as against the others we can safely leave that to Allied Snancial experts to deal with. We don't think there will be any quarreling, though there will be attempts by the more impoverished of the Allies to secure an early payment of whatever is coming their way. This indemnity question to Germany is a serious matter and, rightly or wrongly, we feel sympathetically in clined towards her. The wires to hand over-night tell us that memorial has been signed by twenty-two prominent German economists pointing out that since May 1919, when there was an offer to pay a maximum of one bundred milliard marks, the import heavily if she is to keep going. She needs foodstuffs and raw materials and to buy these she needs foreign credits. It is suggested that those credits should take the form of an Emergency Loan, and that seems a perfectly reasonable suggestion. We cannot think that the latter part of the message It is said that Mr. Churchill dealing with articles taken from ex-occupied territories being considered as part of the reparations debt will be taken seriously, but the fact that Germany is seeking to make her burden the lighter to bar should not always be interpreted as a deliberate attempt to shirk reasonable responsibilities. In our former comment on this question we asserted that a little generosity on the part of the Allies would be of the utmost value, because it would give Germany a chance to make herself economically sound and give the Allies themselves a better assurance that they would get what they were asking for. We believe that the Allies should only ask for what Germany can make by way of profit from her industrial workings. That is all she can spare, without the creation of an even more

Now that the Spa Conference is sitting we shall soon be having figures through of what has been decided. Let us hope that there has been reasonability shown by the victors, who stand to lose by forcing a non-productive crisis in Germany and who stand to gain by encouraging and helping "Germany to regain ther economic stability. As we said before, we are actuated finally by economic motives, but we also have the consciousness Ethat a people's welfare and happiness are at stake. By all means elet us be strict with Germany the Germany that caused the cruel suffering of five years' bloody warfare—but let us avoid being cruelly extortionate. ### THE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

We now know the whole of the results of the championship finals at Winbledon, From the British standpoint, there is ground for regret, because not one of the present year's champions is a British player. So we have to console ourselves with the fact that in three of the events English players did win their way into were removed yesterday to the the fluxle, even if they failed to Victoria Mortuary. secure any titles. The most outstanding feature of this year's world tennis is the fact that Mile. Lenglen, the brilliant French exponent, is champion in three ovents-ladies' singles, ladies' doubles and mixed doubles. The latter comment might easily have been more generousmore attractive; it is becoming more and more beautiful every day, thanks to the efforts of the Botanical Department. But it is not the Hongkoug way to go in for "boosting," much as American and English seaside resorts may do so. We have at times wondered that there has been no systematic publicity campaign initiated on behalf of tourists by the Government, the shipping companies or the hotels. It cannot be that Hongkong is lacking in attractiveness, for we make bold to say that there are few places in the world with finer scenery than Hongkong boasts. Still, perhaps it's as well there has been no "boosting," for heaven knows where accommodlation would be found for any more visitors to our shores. return from the North. A packed house last night gave evidence of the popularity which this class of show has with local residents. A one-act comedy play by Keble Howard, named "An Order to View," which preceded the revue, occupied the attention for the first half of the evening, and served as an introduction to four very clever members of the Company in the persons of Mr. Hodgson, Miss Harrington, Miss Desmond and Mr. Baverstock. A bright little comedy in itself, the play was given additional polish by the skill of the attistes, whose knack of hitting off the amusing points was appreciated by the applause which greeted their efforts. The curtain went up after the interval to disclose the one-act revue "Rosebuda". Il speedily secured a firm hold on the audience, as any play crammed full with funny situations and absurdities would. ## POPULAR PURPLE,

IN VOGUE FOR HOUSE DECORATION.

Purple is becoming popular in house decoration. Mrs. Elinor Glyn does much of her writing when in London in a room with purple walls and a purple carpet. The walls are very cleverly treated with distemper stipped purple. The furniture is Italian and decorated with fruit in natural colours in high relief.

One of the most beautiful dining rooms in London (says a writer in the Daily Chronicle) belongs to the Baroness Percy de Worms, who also has literary tastes. It is in her house in Lowndes Street. It has purple walls and a grey carpet with fine nishing, if they are wrapped in black lines like niello work. On the walls are priceless Bartolozzi prints. The curtains are grey, and the whole makes a very fine ings, the top should be caught in background for the toilettes of her guests and also for beautiful and the sole of the hose should silver. FREE RENTS FOR LARGE PAMILIES.

A suggestion that married people with a family of four or more children should be allowed to live rent free is made by Dr. J. Douglas Wells, medical officer for Billericay (Essex) Rural District, in his annual report. The report was read at a recent meeting of the Billericer Council, but the rentfree angrestion was not favourably received.
